LET A HUNDRED FLOWERS BLOSSOM—LET A HUNDRED SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT CONTEND

NO MATTER WHO YOU VOTE FOR THE GOVERNMENT ALWAYS GETS IN

Seeds & Stems

This is volume 1, number 26 of HUNDRED FLOWERS, which means it's been about half a year since that sunny spring morning when we drove to our first printer with 16 shoddy but camera-ready pages in hand.

Much has changed since then.

Of the 22 brothers and sisters who made that first dry, fragile FLOWER grow from an idea-seed, five worked on the paper you hold in your hands.

Some of the seventeen who split wanted to drop out of the revolution. Others wanted to make it somewhere else. A few have become involved in the area's third peoples paper, which they call the North Country Press. All the departed are dear to us, and we wish them success in their struggles.

A steady stream of visitors, crashers and dedicated workers has flowed through the door of the very fine house in which much of the staff lives and produces the paper. Many members of the community we serve have supported us with kind words and criticisms. We wish more would take an active part in deciding what goes with this paper, which belongs not to you or we, but to all of us.

We try to make decisions by consensus, which works when brothers and sisters treat each other as comrades--we fight the bourgeois ego-tripping and romantic revolutionary overzealousness that sometimes keep us from coming to a consensus.

But we manage to bring 16 pages to the streets of Minneapolis every Thursday. We've finally found a printer who understands that we're not a gardening magazine and is still willing to handle our contract. He's 400 miles away and charges almost twice what earlier printers did, but such are the problems of publishing a peoples paper.

We'd much rather HUNDRED FLOWERS blossomed gloriously every morn. This can't be done until we own and operate the means of production--in this case a 3-unit Vanguard Web-fed Offset press, which costs $20,000 used.

In August, before the last Minnesota printer told us that no matter how ready our copy was, he wouldn't shove it in his camera, it looked like we might be able to save enough to make a down payment on the essential elements of offset (photo reproduction) printing--camera, plate burner, and press.

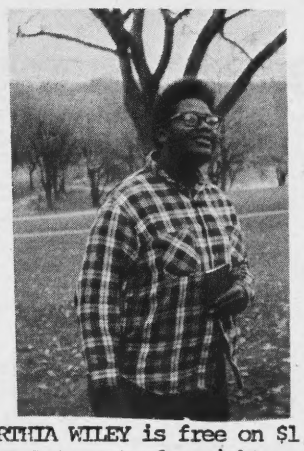
It's still a possibility--no thanks to the pack of rip-off artists who don't understand that we charge money for the paper so that we may continue to serve the people. Unlike virtually every sold-on-the street paper in the country, we've always fronted papers to dealers, assuming they were brothers and sisters who'd bring us some of the quarters people give them for papers. But we and the paper shacks that deal with dealers are tired of giving bundles to people who never come back. We're losing about $100 a week and the store owners don't want to make black lists and rip-off reports.
SO, dealers will have to pay for papers when they pick them up now.



EARTHIA WILEY BUSTED FOR WEED

EARTHIA WILEY is free on $1,000 ransom. Late saturday night, police picked up Wiley on the street and brought him back to his house, and with an impooper search warrant, proceeded to go through his things. They ripped off his red book (Quotations from Chairman Mao) and the Marijuana Cultivators Handbook and supposedly, 10 pounds of Marijuana.

He is charged with possesion of Marijuana.

This is but the latest example of police harassment that for Earthia Wiley, stretches over a period of ten years. He has been arrested twenty times. He has had three convictions, mostly for traffic violations. One was for a robbery in which he was sitting stoned out in the car when the guy who was driving committed a robbery. Wiley tried to stop him, and then left the scene. The judge gave him two years for not reporting it to the police.

When he was trying for an appeal, they let him off on 'good behavior' (he had been raising such a ruckus in prison that they had him confined to solitary). They just didn't want to cause a scene.

A felony charge hanging over his head now is a violation of the federal gun law. He bought a rifle, which is illegal for a man convicted of a felony.

He has been told by the police, "We'll kill you like we killed your brother." Wiley's brother, Dr. Dilliard, died mysteriously a few years ago. He, too, was heavy into serving the people.

Wiley was working for a while with the South Side Community Center and was fired because he was too militant, He was into too much community action.

At one time Paul Helm, notorious WLOL hate-monger, called the South Side Community Center to speak to Earl McNeill about Wiley. He got Wiley instead. This was on the radio. He asked when Wiley would be fired. Wiley replied, "I'm tryin' to do what you white folks want me to do."

According to Wiley's lawyer, McNeill heard the dialog on the car radio. He jumped out of his car and called the station, and said, "That's not me!" Wiley is now free and goes to trial in a few weeks.

Some very important questions remain unanswered. Most important, who is behind the political repression? Is it Stenvig? Is it Chief of Police Lutz? Or is it the racist honky police pigs that harass Wiley day and night?

NEW CENTER

A crafts guild, peoples information center and Peoples Pantry will open a collective door at the corner of 26th and Bloomington within a month.

The landlord has agreed to let the fledgling operations use the building without paying the $150 montly rent until January 1.

The crafts guild will buy materials in quantity and sponsor a cooperative workshop.

Local retailers have been bringing in handmade goods from other parts of the country because they are less expensive.

The guild might make it possible for local craftsmen to build a market of their own here, thanks to collective buying and selling power.

The Peoples information center will provide a center of information for the movement; direct people new to the culture towards projects, activities or services; and be a place for people to come and find out about their community first-hand.

Peoples Pantry has been serving all of North Country's organic food freeks from its one and only location at the West Bank Peoples Center.

If you're interested in helping with what should be the first of many Pantry branches, dial 824-4760 and ask for Debbie, Suzy or Keith.

VOTE NO!

If you go to the polls on Tuesday you will go to ratify one of two possible choices offered to you by the same system. No matter who wins, you lose.

No one is running on a platform of FULL EMPLOYMENT. Honeywell just laid off another 600 employees last week. What are these workers to do? Where are there jobs for these people? And, yet, look at how much there is to be done. We need a cheap, fast, safe and ecologically sound mass transit system. Honeywell workers could be mobilized to build a Monorail Transit System that would be the dream of the future. But Democratic and Republican candidates are not going to work to organize workers to control their own lives: they are working with Big Business to continue a system that exploits the people.

TAXATION--only Betty Smith has advocated a "tax the rich" program. The other candidates say nothing, or pretend to care about excessive taxation, and work with the rich to tax us more and more. We must not pay any more taxes.

HOUSING--both parties work hand in glove with Big Developers and Banks and the Federal Government to wipe out small home-owners and build monstrous apartment buildings: unfit for human habitation.

FOOD--none of the candidates are concerned about feeding the people that are hungry and out of work. No one talks about improving the quality and kind of food distribution that gives us poisonous plastic trash to feed upon.

None of these candidates speaks about the issues. They do not have our confidence.

We at HUNDRED FLOWERS suggest you could probably spend your time better than by voting on Tuesday. There aint no difference between Tweedle-dum and Tweedle-dee; it can't help you and it won't help me.

If you feel you abolutely have to vote November 3rd, then here's some candidates you might not have heard about:

Nancy Strebe of the Socialist Workers Party--the Socialist Workers Party has been a very vocal and very up-front revolutionary communist political organization. Their analysis is old-fashioned (they believe the revolution will happen when the voters decide by referendum to nationalize industry) but they've done the most to start Peace Marches and introduce valiant souls to the revolution.

Derrel Myers of the Socialist Workers Party--readers of HUNDRED FLOWERS might remember Derrel's defense of the SWP in one of our summer issues. He's a real nice guy and he made Enroth and Fraser look like idiots on a three-way televison debate. Fraser's kind of a nice guy too, though, he voted against appropriations for VC a few years ago (one of a handful of representatives to do so). Fraser will win easily, even the Tribune loves him.

GOVERNOR

Karl Heck of the Industrial Government Party--this is the group that digs Daniel De Leon, I think. They're conventional Socialists, the epitome of Old Left. Do away with money by having a worker-credit system of bookkeeping. Nice people and they started me thinking when I picked up their literature at the State Fair over fifteen years ago--went back this year, it was the same literature.

or, for GOVERNOR, you could write in Mimi Harary, SWP, a very impressive young woman with a thorough SWP line.

STATE AUDITOR

Betty M. Smith of the Minnesota Communist Party--remember how you used to "thrill" to the word "Communist?" It used to be the one word you could use to thoroughly terrify someone. All through that time Betty Smith ran a Bookstore, "Bookways," that helped many people find out what was really happening. She has worked tirelessly on civil libertarian issues and fought repression. If you vote, she deserves it.

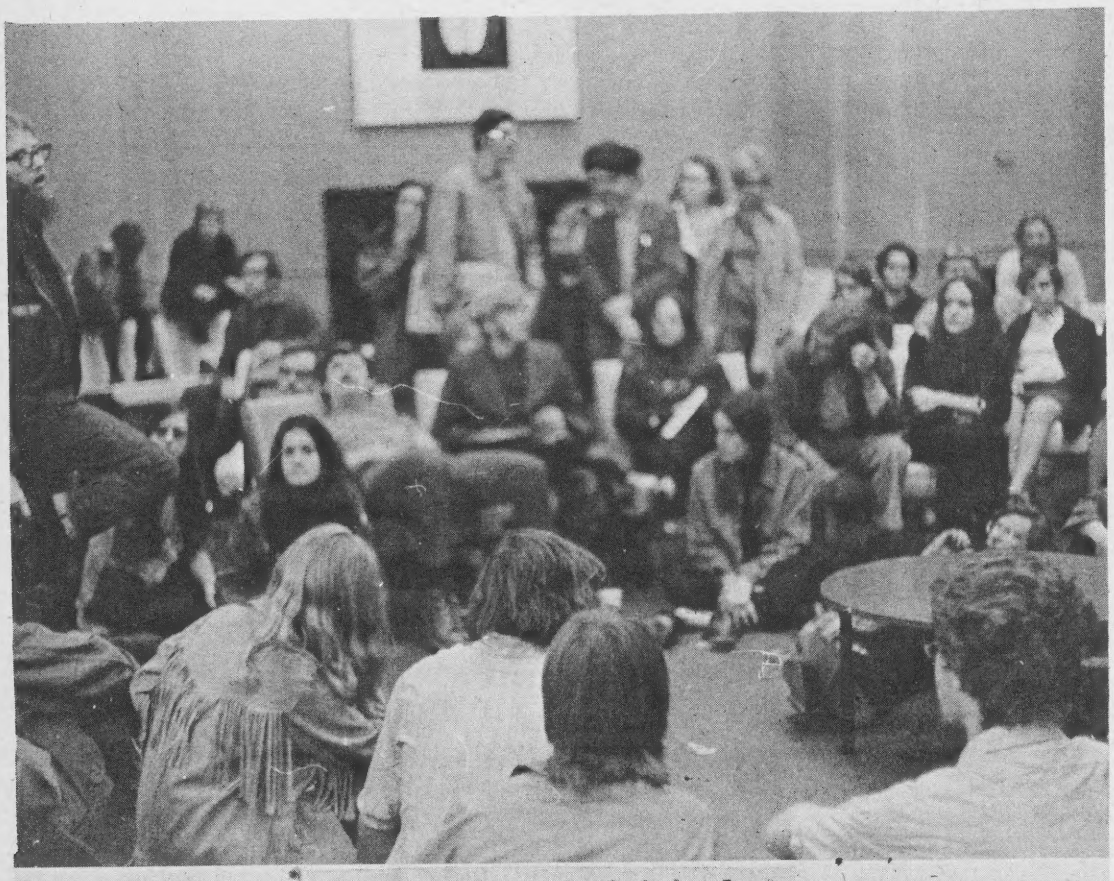
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

To allow the Legislature to define tax exempt property--I'd vote NO. Last time we fooled around with the tax trip U. S. Steel got a tax break (remember the Taconite Amendment?) that made us look like suckers.

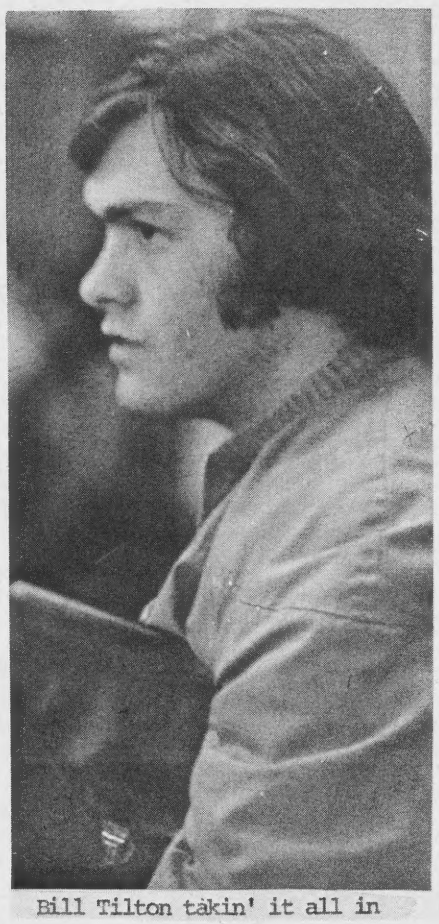
To lower the voting age--I'd vote YES. It might happen. It's probably the only good reason to go to the polls. The socialist and communist candidates won't win (although any numerical strength would be impressive) and the rest of the candidates are depressing beyond belief. But even if the voting age is lowered, and we still have the same kind of choices offered to us without a genuine revolutionary program, we will have meaningless reform.

Minnesota 8

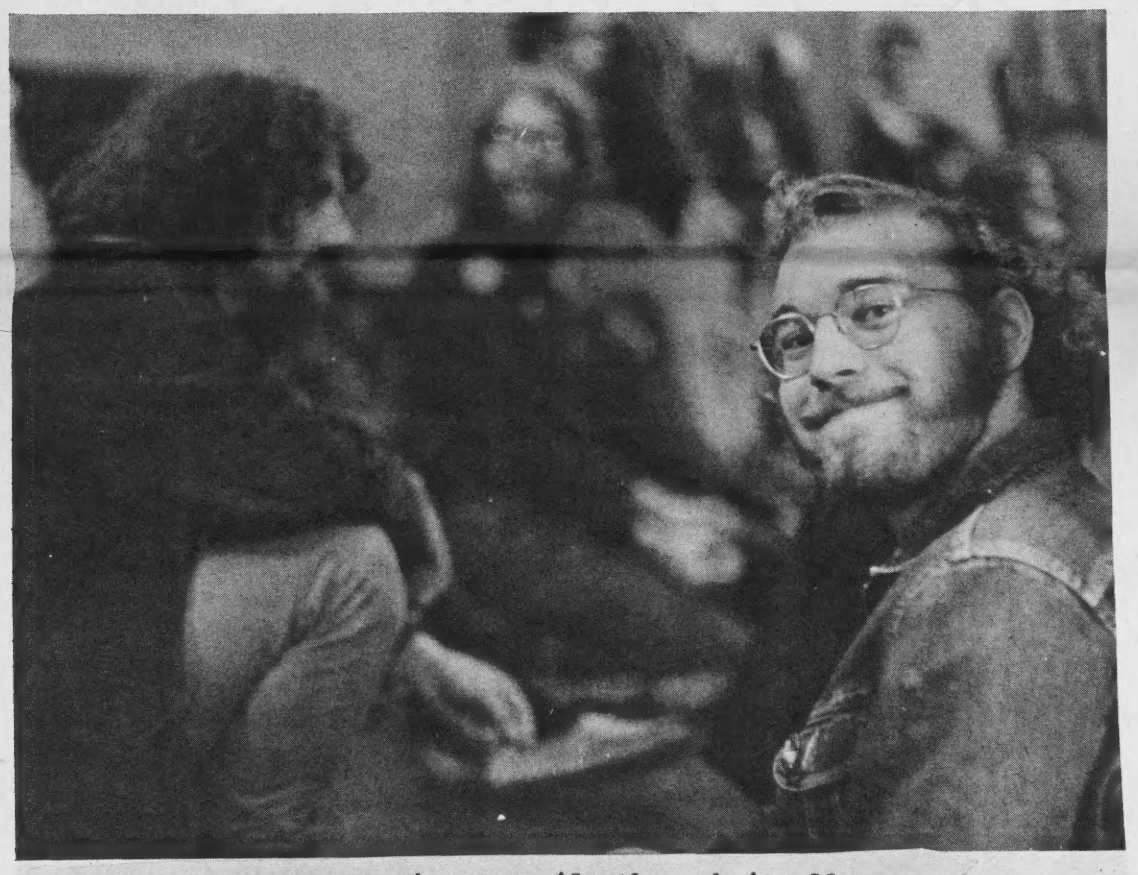
"...Beginning to understand"



Don Olson layin' it down



Bill Tilton takin' it all in



Pete Simmons trying to smile through it all

I'VE BEEN ASKED TO SPEAK TO YOU TODAY-- TO WARN AMERICA ABOUT THOSE WHO TRY TO CHANGE OUR INSTITUTIONS--
BUT, IN A PIG'S EYE I'LL WARN YOU...
THIS NATION WAS FOUNDED BY DISSIDENTS-- BY PEOPLE WHO WANTED SOMETHING BETTER!
THERE'S NOTHING SACRED ABOUT THE STATUS QUO --AND THERE NEVER WILL BE!
NOR DO I BELIEVE IN AN ESTABLISHMENT THAT REMAINS SO ALOOF-- SO DISTANT--THAT THE PEOPLE ARE DRIVEN TO DESPERATE MEASURES-- SILENCE HIM-- ANY WAY YOU CAN!

The Minnesota Eight had another hearing before Judge Devitt on Monday morning in St. Paul and a lot of interesting things happened.

First, before much of anything got underway, Federal Marshalls removed seventeen people from the courtroom. The thugs were so violent in their attempts to "restore order" that the Prosecuting Attorney's wife got hysterical and started crying. The seventeen were removed because they didn't stand when Devitt came in.

Next, Kenny Tilson made about twenty motions, all of which were denied. Many were denied before they could even be read and understood. Renner, the Prosecuting Attorney, worked real tight with Devitt in presenting objections that Devitt immediately could agree to and, thereby, deny the motion.

Some of the motions had to do with trying to discover how the FBI knew enough to catch the Minnesota Eight red-handed trying to destroy draft files. DID THEY USE WIRETAPPING? WAS IT A SLIP OF THE TONGUE TO THE WRONG PERSON? OR IS ONE OF THE EIGHT AN INFORMER???

These motions were denied because the Government argued that to divulge that information would be reveal the Government's case. Of course, it doesn't matter to the Government that a wiretap or fink sure screws up the Minnesota Eight's case.

Finally, Devitt ruled that three of the Eight would have to stand trial in Fergus Falls, and they would have to be there November 2nd for it. This splits up the Defense and imposes real hardship on the Defense Committee and the defense attorney, Kenny Tilson.

Frank Kronke said of this: "We are just now beginning to understand what Black and Chicanos have understood for some time. We are beginning to understand Cairo and Detroit. And a lot of other white people are beginning to understand it too."

The Minnesota Eight Defense Committee had a meeting Monday night to talk about what should be done. Some of the things discussed were:

To 'Trick or Treat' Devitt's house at 1676 South River Blvd. (that's way south of the Ford Parkway in St. Paul, 698-7282) for Halloween Saturday night.

LAST MINUTE CHANGES:

Devitt has reversed his dicision on the site of the trial. The trial will be held in St. Paul on Saturday, not in Fergus Falls. All arrangements for car caravans have been cancelled. The Minnesota 8 have acquired a parade and rally permit. The rally will be at the capitol in St. Paul. People will march from the capitol to the federal building and picket there. Thousands of leaflets were printed for the plans at Fergus FAlls. If you see any of these, disregard them and keep in touch with the Minnesota 8 office, 338-1313.

SUPPORT THE EIGHT If you have any questions or are willing to donate time or money call 338-1313.

1-A Files ripped off

Last Saturday night in a daring raid somebody (where were the Minnesota Eight???) ripped off all the 1-A files of the Wilmar Draft Board. The Wilmar Draft Board is located in the same building as the Police Department which is open 24 hours a day.

Devitt's Courtroom (dead chamber)

On Monday, October 26 between 12 and 20 of us, supporters of the Minnesota 8, found ourselves being forcefully ejected from Judge Edward Devitt's courtroom for refusing to stand upon his honor's entrance.

Many of us had previously signed a short letter which had been delivered to the Judge's chambers Friday calling upon him to "refuse to debase (himself) and others through pseudo-displays of recognition" and thus "(recognize) our humanity and equality."

The letter concluded by stating "It is your person, though not your position and power, to which we are willing to pay respect."

The letter and the action was generated by the concern and frustration felt by a number of us at the way Judge Devitt has openly placed his power at the disposal of the prosecutors office and the climate of fear which he has created in and around his courtroom (one federal marshall for every two supporters; handbags and bookbags not permitted in the courtroom even after being searched; access to the courtroom is blocked after 9 am when the doors are locked and the judge enters; and absolute silence is demanded of all spectators--if one responds to a humorous situation he may find himself confronted by federal marshalls).

REfusing to stand may seem like a minor protest, but within the context which Judge Devitt has placed us, it becomes very important.

It is a direct refusal to respect authority for its own sake and demands that that authority earn its respect through its responsiveness to human needs.

Resistance to illegitimate authority must occur at every level of that authority, indeed, our support for the 8 is best demonstrated by a personal and collective expansion of our resistance.

Resistance which must include not only the draft, capitalism, and imperialism; but all expressions of collective irresponsibility which thwart simplified and creat tive lifestyles.

PEACE MARCH

On Saturday it's "Down to Loring Park Again" for all you fun-lovin' rampaging demonstrators.

This fall's Peace March is sponsored by the Minnesota Peace Action Coalition, which includes such diverse groups as the Council for Corporate Review, Peoples Commission of Inquiry, Augsburg College Republicans (?), Minnetonka Peace Forum, Student Mobilization Committee, Minn. Vets for Peace, Association of Christians for Church Renewal and the Young Socialist Alliance, YSA.

The only group with any respectable politics in the sponsors is the YSA. They're the "youth" part of the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyist organization. Now, Leon Trotsky was a hell of a guy and it sure was a shame the way Stalin picked on him, but he died a long time ago and things have changed. In any case, the YSA across the country have taken major responsibility for organizing Peace Marches, and that's why they're called "Trot Marches:" Trot doesn't mean you move faster, it just means you do the same old thing.

So Saturday people will assemble at either Northrup Auditorium on the U. of M. campus or the Lake Harriet Bandstand at 11 am to leave both places at 12 noon and will march to meet each other at Loring Park downtown at about 1:30.

There'll be speakers and you'll see old friends. Hope it's a nice day for it.

BABY MAKER DOESN'T MAKE IT

Are you tired of seeing movies in which freaks and redicals are portrayed as half-witted, conceited, degenerates whose only goals are to smoke dope, groove on light shows, and engage in illicit love-making? Fed up with pseudo-hop Hollywood directors who cater to the youthful audiences with shlock-rock soundtracks, plastic pot parties, and long haired actors and bra-less actresses? If so, you're gonna be bummed out by the "Babymaker". Barbara Hershev. veteran of "Last Summer", plays a hip California supergirl who leases her body for nine months to a with-it, affluent L.A. couple who can't reproduce because the wife is sterile. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox agree to pay the fertile young Tish $2,000 plus food, rent, and booze expenses (no dope) in return for impregnation by Mr. Wilcox and subsequent production of of one live, healthy infant. Sounds cut and dried and rather perverse, doesn't it? This plot leaves the director plenty of opportunity to explore exciting new themes: The love triangle, mother love, the culture-generation gap, and lots more. In the sixth month of pregnancy Tish breaks up with her leather crafting boyfriend to live with the Wilcox's in their successful hills estate for the duration of gestation. Social comment? Probably not. Sam Grooms is almost good as the husband-stud who benevolently fathers Tish and her boyfriend, Tad. Rest of the cast is quite uninspiring. Best scene of the flick is the natural childbirth sequence in the hospital delivery room. The film is typical of the youth-oriented "new movie" coming out of Hollywood. Mildly entertaining for most people but definitely nothing to go out of your way to see.

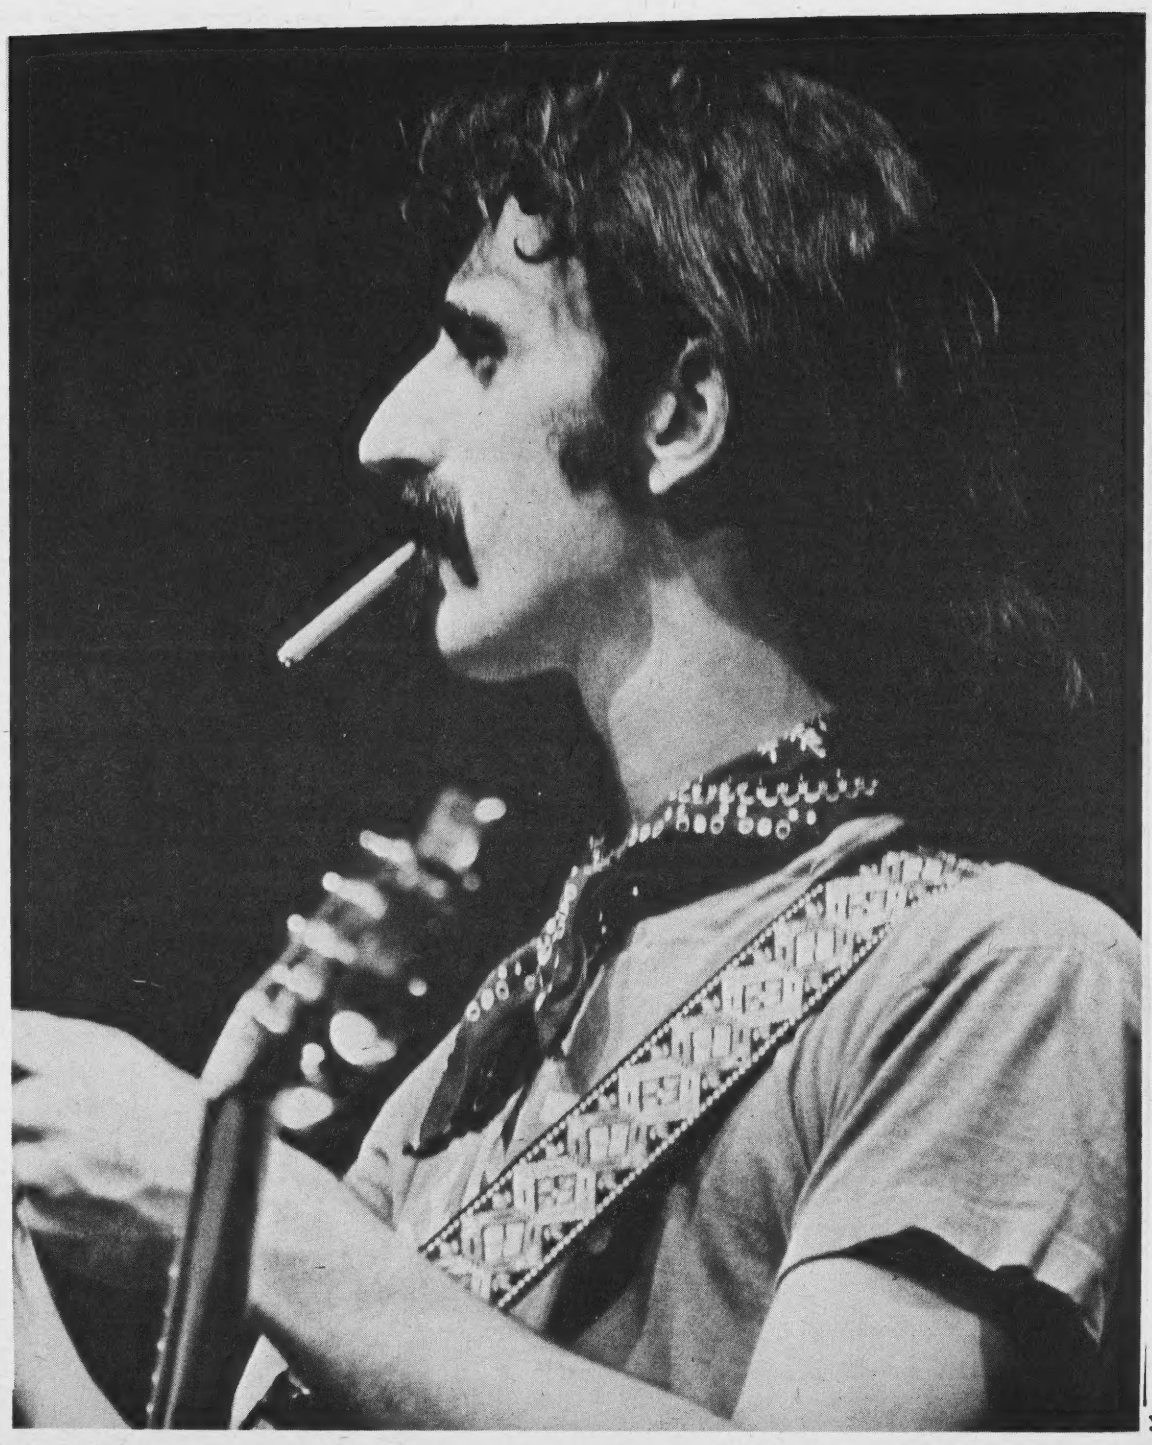
FAMILY NIGHT at the depot

with the MOTHERS of invention and the flying burrito BROTHERS



The best concert in months. People are what's happening and there sure were a lot of 'em at the Depot last Sunday. They were on the stage---Frank Zappa, Larry Mondello, Dr. John the Night Tripper, the Turtles, the Sandini Brothers, the Mothers of Invention, and the Flying Burrito Brothers---and they were in the audience, a wall to wall, ceiling to ceiling blanket of sore-assed, happily packed humanity.

The Burritos started off the second show (I missed their half of the first show) and promptly displayed by far the best Burrito misic I've heard in the three concerts I've taken in. I saw them last year before they fired lead singer Gram Parsons and again this summer when it appeared they sorely missed him. Now they've acquired Rick Richards and a much more complete arrangement and finally they appear to be fulfilling the expectations we've always had for them.

I had always thought that pedal steel guitarist Sneaky Pete was their only magician/musician (nobody hits those lap licks like this cat) but Sunday Barry Lieden and Chris Hillman were virtual virtuosi when they laid down their electric guitars in favor of banjo and mandolin, respectively. Hillman is the only former-Byrd remaining in the group now that Parsons has joined Doug Clarke in the Byrds-Burrito alumni.

The big surprise though, occurred as baby-Burrito Richards strpped from the shadows to sing the last song of the set. If you closed your eyes you would've known it was Steve Stills but sure enough it was just this Shaky-looking kid singing his nostrils out. I'll be looking forward to the Burritos return.

Zappa and his circus followed. This was the second tour for the Mothers in the five months since Zappa reformed them, keeping only Ian Underwood while adding some of the old Turtles. Like last time, this tour ended in Minneapolis. Zappa began both acts by announcing that the tapes of the Guthrie Concert turned out so well that they'll take up half of their new album, to be released in a few weeks.

Even in the first show, (when things were only touched lightly), but especially in the second show, it bacame apparent that the group had matured immeasurably in this last tour. Now the new Mothers sound even more like the old Mothers than the Old Mothers! Last time it seemed Howie Kahlen and Mark Volman (the ex-Turtles) were doing a pretty pretentious job of mimicing the voices on the old records. And ignorigg their great Turtle's voices at that. But now! WOW! Their new roles are entirely their own and are entirely free, biting, exciting, and fun. As fun as The Mothers ever were. Also, their continuous two part falsetto harmonies are as vibrant as their old (and still missed) Turtle voices ever could be. They were delightful in their satirical skitlits, whether as Groupie Mark and cock-rocker Howie, larry Mondello and Larry Mondello (the fat friend of Beaver Cleaver of Tv fame that both have been mistaken for for years), or as the amazing and fabulous Sandini brothers whose acrobatic wonders continue to astound the world.

(Volman was thanked by Jon Bjornson, chairman of the Ken Osmand Radical Action Committee for his appearance as Mondello earlier this summer on behalf of the"Bring Back the Beaver" movement here in North Country. As a result of "Mondello's" rap with Bjornson and Hundred Flowers in a satirical sketch in our July 10th ish, KORAC was flooded with calls from sincere volunteers who wanted to know what could be done to get "Leave it to Beaver" back on KMSP. All serious Beaver fans are urged to call Jon (pronounced "YONE") at 729-4993 or call the station directly at 339-9911.

"Aw gee, Mom, God already has enough troubles with the Russians and all." THE BEAVER

This is for real--a genuine movement to GET BEAVER BACK.

(After six years of continuously getting mistaken for Mondello, Volman now identifies strongly with the show, and was thrilled that he had given a spark to the movement. Graveness, however, was the tone in which he spoke of KMSP's unresponsiveness... "It's a pity. In troubled times like these it's good to have something light, something fresh to turn to. And what could be better than "Leave it to Beaver"?")

As fun and funny as they were, I wonder if they understand all the satire Zappa puts them through. I sure didn't. Zappa is very fast and no doubt the most clever of contemporary satirists. His pointed tongue misses none but he had nothing but respect for his North Country audience. And we were crazy about him, too. Often overlooked is his terrific guitar which was humming pretty Sunday night. The rock is distinctly Zappa---desparate, but finely structured melodies with the control and buzzes of Hendrix. Whew!

Zappa, Volman, Kahlen, and the rest of you Mothers: Fantastic Show!

HEAT'S ON IN FRIDLEY

Hundred Flowers:

The person who wrote in the situation at Fridley High was apparently too scared to even touch on how plastic the school really is. It prides itself on being the "most conservative school system in the district" in the words of the assistant principal. And not only is hair a big hassle, it cannot be below the eyes, over the ears, or on the collar.

Hoping to point out how unrealistic the whole thing is, I and some other friends tried to rap with with the guy once, and within five minutes I slipped and said something to the effect that he was "hung up on the phoney ideals of the administration." He grabbed me by the shirt and threatened to give me one right between the eyes. Funny how someone can be so strong yet so weak.

Just Yesterday a friend got busted for having 5 hits of green-micro-dots. We have 10 informers in our school, and for the sake of the kids in our school who are sometimes holding, please print one who is almost certainly an informer.

We plan to go to court about hair if necessary. We feel this deals with constitutional rights. We have no bread and no parental financial support. If this is printed, readers knowing where to find guidance or a lawyer help. We are going to try Civil Liberties Union soon.

LOVE OF THE NEW

Don't love the old order of things which keep it going. If anyone loves the old order, it is not the father's love that is in him. For everything that is the old order--the hankering for material comforts, the hankering for physical comforts, the hankering for material things, is not from the father but from the old order itself. And the old order, with its hankerings, is collapsing, but he who lives by the will of God moves into the New Age. So don't be surprised, Brothers and Sisters, if the old order hates your guts. We ourselves are convinced that we have switched from death to life because we love the brothers. The man with no love still lives in death country; the brother-hater is a man-killer, and you know that no man-killer has spiritual life residing in him.

NOTES OF A NATIVE JEW

i am a north country native. i am going to school here in the corn capital of the world. i have on several occasions read Hundred Flowers since i got to school and have several questions, comments and brief un-understandable witticisms.

first of all, the paper is improving. sometimes. i guess our purposes and ways of spreading the revolution are different and i want to tell you mine.

i was raised in the shadow of aushwitz. my parents pointed to the gas chambers and said, "look what happened to the Jews."

i looked and said look what man does to his brother.

my revolutionary hero in the entire world is Lenny Bruce. the words that Lenny gave us are god send. Lenny told us where amerika was at, and they killed him for it.

they murdered Lenny. it was immoral. that's my revolution, moral vs. immoral. killing is immoral. that means for us too.

are we the same animals that our enemy is. are you advocating a real war on the cover of oct. 16? is this revolution one political philosophy vs. another or are we the real thinking loving human beings that we want to be.

we are waging a war. we are the soldiers without guns. we can kill him without his fucking death weapons. the 8 showed us we can stop his shit without resorting to violence against another human being.

there are a great many potential revolutionaries out there in whereever they might be. they are into the culture and they defend us at the dinner table, although only to defy their parents.

Jimi Hendrix was a beautiful human being and a genius at the guitar. He was a revolutionary with his guitar.

those kids out there bought Jimi's albums. they dug him. you go and call him a bunch of dirty names, and after he's dead. you didn't even care enough to tell him he was fucking up (if he was) when he was around to listen to it.

Jimi Hendrix discovered that he was a Black man. he started thinking and doing things for Black people. then he dies and you give him shit because he was standing with some naked women.

did you ever think that the reason Jimi Hendrix ever balled was because some dumb girl could brag about it to her friends? no one loved Jimi Hendrix, they only dug the way he played his guitar.

so many people out there are going to have to choose sides soon. agnew and his fascist henchmen have labeled us"the enemy." we need those people. they aren't all socialist, many are racist and/ or sexist. but when the shit falls we'll need them. we must be practical. Earl Craig is a good man. He doesn't believe all we do, but he respects us and he will never put us in aushwitz. we need the Earl Craig's.

...i'll be there when the fighting starts (but i won't ever kill). if we fight every day, inside, outside and in spite of the system, then hopefully nobody will have to decide if they would kill or not.

BAN THE BOMBINGS

To the Editors;

It may well be that many of the recent bombings and threatened bombings in the Twin Cities are political actions of persons whose sentiments qualify them for a place in the so-called Movement. Assuming for the sake of discussion that this is so. let one school of thought contend that such actions are not justifiable by the measures of either morality or political effectiveness.

To me there are few things more abhorrent than placing a package of powerful explosives in a crowded department store. Dropping tons of bombs from squads of planes upon men, women, children, soldiers, and civilians is more abhorrent, but the former bombing does nothing to prevent the latter. There are few creations more despicable than the creation of the sweaty fear of death in hundreds of people, sending them scrambling madly to escape a threatened building. I agree with those who would reply that blasting and burning people to death with corporate callousness is worse, but I don't see how the creation of a new fear is going to bring an end to the old one.

What such surreptitious attempts at destroying the system are likely to produce are further bulwarkings of the system by those who identify with it and feel threatened by midnight attacks on large granite structures. In a society where such persons are in a preponderant majority it is foolish to expect public tolerance for the opinions of the bomb carrying sneaks. Such tolerance is necessary when sympathy for radical revolutionaries is not strong or widespread, as it was in the cases of the French, Russian, and Cuban revolutions. For this reason, those of us who would create a new system must play our parts in the open where the humanity of our cause is visible to the insecure majority. Making motives and intentions clear and understandable, in a non-threatening way, is more humane and hopeful of success than hit-and-run heroism.

Steven Setzer.

You are a chicken-shit bourgeois pacifist. Che' said: "Wherever death may surprise us let it be welcome as long as one more person comes forward to pick up the gun and intone our funeral dirge with the stacatto of machine guns."

REPORT FROM LOCAL G.I. IN 'NAM'

There are many young men in the Armed Forces. They join for varied reasons, whether to fight a war or escape the truth of Reality Back Home. Most of us let ourselves be drafted: either we don't know how to fight the war machine or don't dig being put behind bars or branded as a coward or a deserter.

Some guys luck out and never see the slaughter fields of Vietnam--they are constantly harassed by inspections--they live in a classroom with occasional field trips to brush up on tactics.

The less fortunate are easily distinguishable by the row of ribbons they carry on their chest, including the green and white Vietnam Campaign Ribbon and sadly, yet all too often the Purple Heart.

These are the men who fought for their country's "honor", and for the friends alongside them in combat.

A few had some college; many are fresh out of high school; a larger number never received diplomas--but to an extent, we are very much alike. We were adolescents who knew little of human life and nothing of the vast, complex military machinery.

In six months, the soldiers put guns in our hands and mentally and physically prepared us to use them. Then we went to war and simply had to adjust or die. We learned to live with the reality of the battlefield--that this day might be The Last.

The infantry lives for days and weeks in mud and sand, enduring 110° temperatures and monsoon rains. They carry pack mules' burdens on clothes that haven't experienced laundry soap in ages.

The soldier's daily experience might include: having his best friend blown to bits by mines called Bouncing Bettys; being flat on his back under fire, watching the blood flow from his own gaping wound; or being ripped apart by a sudden burst of 51 caliber machine gun fire.

I thank God that I am at least in the artillery instead of the infantry division. At least we don't see as much of the enemy as the grunts (infantrymen).

They seem interested only in getting medals (the most famous is the Bronze Star with the 'V' design that stands for Valor). If they can win their medals while serving their tour of duty, they're "A-OK" in the eyes of the Green Machine, and they get a better position when they get back.

We still have to endure unbelieveable field conditions. We are placed in positions with absolutely no strategic value. We are placed there by the Lifers (career soldiers).

The lifers have no regard for our lives. MANY times they have put us in an insecure or unsafe field position for the sole purpose of getting us in a fire fight so they can win medals.

The South Vietnamese people are constantly being watched by American Servicemen out of curiousity. They are a people whose way of life are very strange to us.

There are almost no toilets or even outhouses, with the exception of the Palace of the Imperial Family.

It is common to see grown men and women squatting beside the main street relieving themselves.

Food and clothing are hard to come by, as they are in most Oriental countries. The people seem like leeches waiting to snatch up anything and everything the Americans leave behind. (I saw a child of four wearing size 13 combat boots) The people are always begging or stealing from us, and for this reason the g.i.s resent the Vietnamese strongly.

It is common to see mistreatment of these people by g.i.s--we are all authorized to carry tear gas grenades which are commonly thrown at the people as a game.

It works both ways--if you drive through a village at night you almost always are pelted from all sides with rocks.

When my tour of "duty" ends in 134 days I will again be free--I'll let my hair grow long and go to rock concerts and rallies with my brothers and sisters.

Sandstone Prison Coffeehouse

The Soledad Brothers, the recent jail rebellions in Queens and the Tombs in New York, and the mass work-strikes among prisoners at Sandstone, Ft. Leavenworth, Atlanta and other Federal prisons a couple of months ago are manifestations of a newly developing consciousness among the imprisoned. These are beginnings, and there will be more. Happenings such as these exemplify the need to see jails and prisons as a new front for support and action by the Movement.

With this in mind, a group of people in Minneapolis have been working for the last two months on a coffeehouse project for the Federal prison at Sandstone, Minnesota, which would relate to the needs of the prisoners through their friends and loved ones. The coffeehouse would be located in the town of Sandstone, from the prison itself.

One of its functions would be to provide a resting place for the prison visitors before and after visits. Coffee and small food items would be provided free; literature would be available; and entertainment in the form of movies and recorded (and possibly "live") music would be presented.

Another function would be that of an assembly point for visitors. While the separation among the imprisoned behind the walls is encouraged by various pacification efforts such as special privileges, racism, etc. on the part of prison officials, those outside the walls--the visitors --are separated mainly by geographical factors such as living in different cities, etc. The coffeehouse would provide an opportunity to foster a sense of solidarity and togetherness. Hopefully, the establishment of community among those outside the walls will stimulate efforts for such a development for those inside the walls.

Also, we would like to provide transportation service from the town's train/bus depot to the prison and back. And eventually, if enough money is available, overnight housing for indigent visitors.

Although we have been working intensely for the last two months to raise the necessary seed money for the project through mass-mailings, soliciting various groups, etc., so far we've gotten only about $600. We figure we'll need at least $1000 to get off the ground. If you have spare money and/or want more information on the project, call or write:

LIBERATE PUERTO RICO NOW

NEW YORK (LNS) — Thirty young Puerto Ricans between the ages of 13 and 25 rode down the mountain of Barrio Coabey into the town of Jayuya on Oct. 30, 1950, opened fire and attacked the jailhouse. They were members of the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party and their leader was a woman, Blanca Canales. The Nationalists held Jayuya for two days before their rebellion and the Nationalist uprisings in ten other Puerto Rican towns were crushed.

On the twentieth anniversary of that brave attempt to liberate Puerto Rico, the Young Lords Party is calling for a national demonstration at the UN to protest the colonization of Puerto Rico by the U.S. and to press for the following four demands:

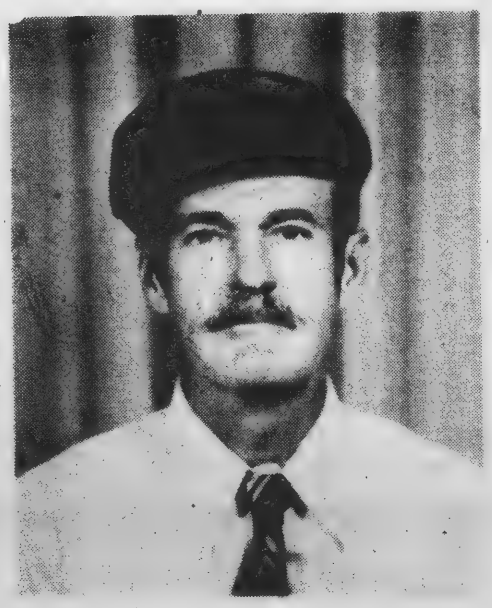
1. Liberate Puerto Rico now
   a. Withdraw all military bases and troops from the island.
   b. No more Puerto Ricans forced to serve in the U.S. Army.
2. Free all political prisoners and prisoners of war.
3. End the genocide of all Third World people.
4. Smash U.S. imperialism.

The primary purpose of the UN demonstration is to call attention to the enslaved condition of Puerto Rico, which is owned and controlled by the United States.

Today the island legislature's powers deal with such heavy matters as traffic regulations. Real political power resides in the U.S. House Committee on Insular Affairs and the Senate Committee on Territorial and Insular Affairs, both of which meet in Washington, D.C., some 1500 miles from San Juan. Appeals from Puerto Rican courts are decided in Boston and final jurisdiction rests with the U.S. Supreme Court.

U.S. federal agencies control the country's foreign relations, customs, immigration, post office system, communications, radio, television, commerce, transportation, maritime laws, military service, social security, banks, currency and defense — all of this without the people of Puerto Rico having a vote in U.S. elections.

The Learys



Timothy

Rosemary

Timothy and Rosemary Leary have successfully extracted themselves from the bowels of the Beast. According to Liberation News Service, the Panther Party in Algeria arragged for the couple to be granted asylum there after their mysterious escape.

Since Algeria does not have diplomatic relations with the United States Government, the Black Panthers represent the revolutionary anti-imperialist peoples of America and handles official relations with the Algerian government.

In an interview reported last week, Leary was quoted as saying:

"All that propaganda about my digging jail as righteous karma was just bullshit. I intended to escape from the first day.

I realized my freedom was the only thing I wanted and I was willing to kill for it. The need for armed a revolution becomes obvious when you spend seven months of your existence living among pigs."

Leary now considers himself a member of the Weathermen and aligns with YIPPIE.

"We used to quote from I Ching a lot, Rosemary stated, but now its going to be Kim Il Sung and the thoughts of Chairman Mao."

Perhaps it takes seven months in the Man's jail to figure out which way the wind is blowing. But we doubt it. We can watch two comrades make the inevitable switch from flower power to gun power.

The war is on!

Proud Eagle Tribe

A group of women calling themselves the Proud Eagle Tribe claimed responsibility for bombing the Center for International Affairs at Boston's Harvard University.

The center was designed to help the Amerikan government quash the peoples uprisings in Asia, the Middle East and Latin America.

The "strategic hamlet program," an attempt to destroy the culture and life style of the Vietnamese, was created here.

The following is taken from a letter sent by the group announcing the bombing as the beginning of its fall offensive:

We see women around the world fighting to be free by becoming fighters and leaders in the revolution. Madame Nguyen Thi Dinh led the first armed group in South Vietnam. Madame Binh leads the NLF negotiating team in Paris. Leila Khaled hijacked a plane as part of the Palestinians liberation struggle.

The women's movement is growing. We look to the leadership and example of women like Angela, Afeni and Bernadine who show us how powerful and crucial we can be in attacking Amerika and building a movement of youth that will help destroy it.

The Man's chauvinism is a strategic weakness we can use against the enemy. We use the fact that Pig Amerika is blind to the strength and cunning of any woman to take the enemy by surprise.

Women can be everything we want this time!

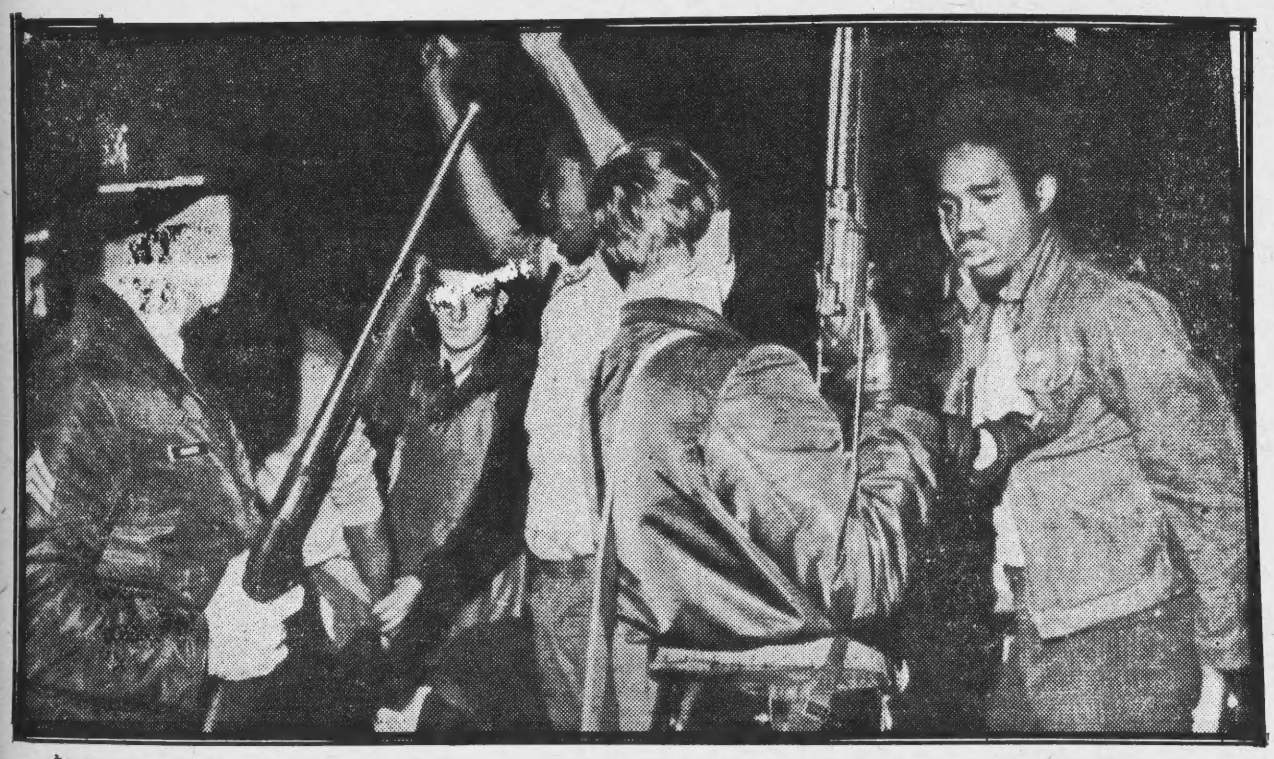
PANTHERS RIPPED OFF:



Detroit

Fifteen Black Panthers were captured and charged with the murder of a black policeman late last week.

Over 100 Detroit policemen surrounded the Panther headquarters and used tear gas to force the panthers out.

They are all being held on charges of first degree murder with a total bail of $225,000.

ALL political prisoners must go free!

Des Moines

Police raided a five-apartment complex in the Des Moines, Iowa, black community Oct. 2, allegedly seizing rifles and ammunition in the raid. Also raided was the office of the Black Mobile Street Workers. The raids followed the arrests on Sept. 26 of two black men, Peter Williams and Charles Edward Smith, accused of armed robbery in a restaurant holdup. Police claimed that the two men were "admitted Black Panthers" and that the apartments were "Black Panther headquarters." Both prisoners are being held in lieu of $26,000 bail each.

Cairo

Panthers fought three gun battles Saturday night at a police precinct station in Cairo, Ill. No one was killed. One Panther was injured and taken with a police escort to the hospital after the second round of firing.

When the police chief was asked what was happening in the town, he replied:

We don't have a race problem here, we don't have SDS demonstrations. What we've got here is an insurrection.

Anti-Crime Bill Could Do You In

An anti-crime bill signed by President Nixon last week permits judges to impose an additional 25-year jail term on certain "dangerous and adult special offenders" convicted of crimes carrying lesser penalties.

It also establishes federal control over interstate and foreign commerce on explosives; brings the FBI and federal attorneys into campus bombing cases and bombings at all federally-funded institutions and approves the death penalty when the explosion causes death.

How will it work?

Nixon said to FBI Head J. Edgar Hoover and Attorney General John Mitchell:

Gentlemen, I give you the tools. You do the job.

Quebec

As a result of last week's slaying of Labor Minister Pierre La Porte, over 400 people have been locked up in Quebec.

Canada continues to be under martial law. James Cross, British diplomat who was kidnapped about the same time as La Porte, has not been heard from as yet.

The Quebec Liberation Front continues to demand the release of 23 political prisoners, and the government offers a ride to Cuba for the kidnappers.

PUFF THE MAGIC DRAGON: R.I.P?

Puff the Magic Dragon didn't really live by the sea. It lived on the banks of the Mississippi River, and in the heart of everyone who liked good music. For almost two months now, the owners of the ship called Puff and the family who own the boatworks put on live music every weekend from 8 at night till 3 in the morning. Anyone could come, no one of a peaceful nature was turned away. It was fun to listen to the music, dance and camp all weekend with your friends, but it had to end. The dragon was sentenced to death. Can we do something to save Puff's life? Can we intercede with the King and get a pardon? Let try!

The king sentenced Puff to death because he was a public nuisance, he scared people. Someone got hurt one weekend during a robbery, and the city blames Puff because that's where it happened. Is this the way it is supposed to be? When four people died at Kent State did the University get shut down and told they could never teach again? When the women's rest room at Dayton's blew up and a woman got hurt, were they labelled a public nuisance and shut down? Hell no. So why pick on Puff?

Will we the people, who are really still that little boy, that same little Jackie Paper, let Puff die, and die a lonely death at that? I, for one, will not. I like too much the life of song and dance the old dragon offers. Let's all show Puff that we care. After you read this, pick up your phone and ask for Puff The Magic Dragon and let them know you care.

If you really do care, then call the Department of Public Safety at 224-2874 and then do more and call the King, His Majesty, Mayor McCarty at 224-4323 and keep calling every chance you get. Keep the lines busy so they hear nothing but "Save Puff!" "He's our friend." If you happen to know who your Congressman is, write to him, and tell him to save Puff. Remember, with your help, we can save a harmless old dragon's life. Long l live Puff the Magic Dragon and Little Jackie Paper.

GET YOUR CAR READY FOR WINTER

North Country winters can be fun with skiing and other winter sports, but for your car it means HELL. The frigid temperatures and biting cold winds raise havoc with the vital working parts of your car. Dead batteries and frozen, startless engines mean short tempers, long, cold walks and worst of all, $$ca$h. There is a way you can get around most of these problems this winter. A car will last many times longer if you understand how it works and what causes its problems.

The most common problem during North Country winters is a dead battery, but the problem goes farther than that. Most batteries are "ground dead" by someone trying to start a car with another problem, At zero degrees your battery has only half the power that it has at about 50 degrees so you can see that the problem is compound. If your battery has seen more than two Minnesota winters, it should probably be replaced, or a good idea would be to bring your battery in the house on the nights that the temperature is expected to go below zero.. This move alone will give you two to three times the battery power you'd normally have. It could just mean the difference between go and no go.

Another simple problem that causes many headaches is the choke. Today, most cars are equipped with automatic chokes that definitely need adjustment when winter approaches. For colder weather and cold starts, you need a much richer mixture of gasoline. Rebuilding your carbeurator is not a bad idea if you think it needs it. Carb kits run $2-$4 at auto stores and aren't too hard to install. Another good idea in cold weather is to keep your gas tank full. I realize this is no easy task for those of you who have a hard enough time keeping a buck's worth in but it's well worth it. Never let it get below one half tank in cold weather because moisture can condense and freeze in the gas line and then no start. It's a good idea to keep a can of "HEET" or some other de-icer in your car at all times.

Another very important factor in cold weather starting is oil. You can increase your starting power by using thinner oil. A thick oil puts a very heavy load on the starter and can again mean the difference between start and no start. When it gets real cold, use a 5 w 20 oil. If your car is an oil burner, use a 10 weight first and see how fast it burns, you may have to go to a 20 weight.

An engine tank-heater is virtually a 100% guarantee that your car will start all winter long no matter how cold it gets. 850 watts is plenty big enough for any engine. Five hundred watts for smaller engines. Bigger heaters only cost more money to run. The idea is not to keep your engine hot but to keep off the sub-zero cold. They're only needed when the temperature gets down near zero. When you plug it in, stick a piece of cardboard in front of the radiator to keep the wind from cooling it too much but don't forget to remove it before you start or your engine will overheat. Tank-type heaters are the best and cost under $10 plus $5 to$10 for installation. A dip stick heater will work almost as good and needs no installation.

Spark plugs should also be replaced in late fall. Its awful hard to start a car especially when 2 or 3 plugs aren't firing. Your car should definitely be tuned for winter. Most gas station bills run $20 or so depending upon the parts used. NEVER take your car to a dealer's garage. They love to "stick it to ya". Make sure you know your local mechanic. Jim's Service on 34th and Minnehaha Ave is very fair and does good work. So is the independant station on 35th and Bloomington and Dan's garage on 37th and Minnehaha. Your best bet is a small independant garage with no fancy signs or advertising. You can usually pick up on the vibes as soon as you see the place. Watch out for the dirt-cheap specials, they usually find enough other things wrong with your car to make a sizeable bill. The Goodyear store on Lake Street is a great one for this trick. If you have any tools or mechanical ability you can probably do a decent job of tuning yourself. Buy plugs (never more than 50-60¢ ea.) and a tune-up kit. Instructions for setting the points are usually with the kit.

It goes without saying that you need anti-freeze in your car. This doesn't affect the cold weather starting except that if your car soesn't have anti-freeze, the water will expand and freeze and crack the engine. You can get good cheap anti-freeze from 10,000 Auto Store in bluk quantities if you bring your own container. This way you can save up to half price. Make sure all your hoses and connections son't leak first before you put in anti-freeze or you;ll lose it all. Most radiators drain very easily with a drain to clean all the shit out of the system. Then put in the good anti-freeze.

Its also a good idea to have snow-tires on your car for when the snow gets deep. Studs help you stop better on icy pavement but don't help much when you are stuck in deep snow. Never race your engine on slippery streets or when you're stuck. If you find yourself starting to slip or slide, let up on the accelerator completely and you'll find it will usually stop slipping. NEVER hit the brakes when you start to slide sideways or you'll go around. If you have to stop fast, pump your brakes rapidly. If you find yourself stuck, go very lightly on the gas or your wheels will spin and go deeper in. If you have a stick transmission, try starting out in second gear instead of low. If you have an automatic, try rocking gently from forward to reverse without racing the engine or you'll ruin the transmission.

If you follow this simple checklist (cut it out and save it) your car will start every day this winter:

1. Make sure battery is good with tight clean cables or else bring it in on cold nights.
2. Light oil. (Change the filter, too)
3. New plugs, points, and condenser. (Check for bad plug wires and distributor cap too.)
4. Carb and choke adjusted, tank full of gas.
5. Make sure generator belt is tight so battery stays fully charged.

faucet-type arrangement near the bottom of the radiator. Before putting in anti-freeze, its a good idea to fill with clean water, throw in a can of radiator flush, let it run for 10- 15 minutes to get hot and then re-

A bit of good Karma helps too!

Acupuncture - The Art of Electric Massage and Healing

(ed. note - This is the fourth in a series of articles on T"ai Chi Chuan herbal medecine, and acupuncture by Terry Walhus, illustrated by John Long. Terry and John have started a whole new series of classes in all of the above subjects. Write to the Mineapolis Center of Yoga, 3045 Nicollet, for more details. Terry and John will give a demonstration of T'ai Chi Chuan and T'a Lu (joined hands) at the Sunday Dinner put on by the Yoga Center, 3045 Nicollet (above the Karate Center) on Sunday at]:00 in the afternoon. Please bring organic food, incense, blankets, etc. to contribute to the ecology of this event)

According to Chinese Yoga practices - T'ai Chi Chuan - a person who concentrates his energy in the lower belly possesses a powerful center of physical gravity : he maintains a condition of Yang, strong body and Yin, receptive mind.

In the Chinese cosmology, a man is a cybernetic, organic unit which consists of 26 meridians which run along the body like lines of longitude and are traversed by currents of electromagnetic energy called "Ki" or Prana.

The points which lie along the meridians are knots of energy, tiny chakras. The 500 or so points are keyboard receptors and emiters of all our internal organs. By stimulating these points with finger pressure, needles, massage, heat. electricity, and T'ai Chi Chuan one is able to directly stimulate internal organs, transmute sickness into health.

Practice of T'ai Chi Chuan - Chinese Yoga - stmulates all the acupuncture points as a unit through the slow, organic execution of 54 to]08 movements.

PEOPLES PANTRY

People's Pantry now has beans. Hope to soon get mung and azuki beans, popcorn, sea salt and grinders.

We want to eventually (soon) have everything needed for a meatless diet.

Economics dictate this along with health and head reasons.

Flour, rice, and honey are all being delivered now--a couple of tons at a time. We have to pick up supplies at two places, both of which are faily easy to get to and involve mostly 50 pound packages or less. 50 pound bags are a lot easier to manage than 100 pounders.

The Pantry needs a warehouse for a central Pantry supply point. A place where Pantrys and individuals buying large quantities could come and get their supplies in one stop.

Right now we are using the Andrew-Riverside Church as a warehouse but it is inadequate first of all because it has no unloading dock. Also; there's not enough room and we suspect there are too many mice!

So if you know of a warehouse or something suitable for food storage contact the Pantry immediately.

Here is a list of foods available at the Pantry. The prices change and the list grows longer every few weeks.
